Dear Friends and Colleagues,

We are happy to present the North Country Health Consortium 2011 Annual Report. It was a busy year for the Consortium with continued focus on the mission of the organization - to lead innovative collaboration to improve the health status of the region.

Nancy Frank, MPH
Interim Executive Director

2011 has been a year of change for the North Country Health Consortium. In March, our office moved from Whitefield, NH to Littleton, NH. We now have a wonderfully spacious office that can accommodate all of our staff as well as the Littleton Molar Express community clinic. Our Berlin office also relocated to Androscoggin Valley Home Care, where the Berlin Molar Express community clinic is held.

North Country Health Consortium said good-bye to some long-time employees who will forever have an impact on the organization. Martha McLeod, North Country Health Consortium Executive Director since 1999, was instrumental in bringing rural issues and health disparities of the North Country to the attention of state legislators and policy makers. Under Martha's leadership and vision North Country Health Consortium formed a rural health network, became a member organization, and expanded its focus to population health. We wish Martha all the best as she continues to advocate for rural health issues and the citizens of New Hampshire and the North Country.

Gretchen Nellson Bunker, a dedicated and loyal Program Assistant for ten years, retired this year. Dr. Jeremy Draper, the first full-time dentist for Molar Express, also left the area over the summer. Jeremy's dedication to public health dentistry expanded Molar Express services and enabled it to become a true dental home for many North Country residents.

Our funders and partners have continued to provide generous support for all of our program areas, including the Northern New Hampshire AHEC, the North Country Public Health Network, the North Country Regional Prevention Network, and Molar Express. Dr. Brett Hill joined our Molar Express staff, bringing fresh ideas for Molar Express services and sustainability. In collaboration with many partners, and funding from HRSA's Office of Rural Health Policy, we launched Live, Learn, and Play in Northern New Hampshire, an enhanced clinical rotation experience for health professions students. New community relationships were formed as the regional Chronic Disease Self-Management Program was initiated. NCHC received over $330,000 in grants and contracts to carry out public health essential services in the North Country, and the Prevention Network expanded its outreach and support for area youth.

Adele Woods, MS, CEO
NCHC Board President

With gratitude and special recognition to our dedicated staff, board members, and community partners, we look forward to a productive new year working together to strengthen and grow the North Country Health Consortium.

Sincerely,
