Presented by:

Michael Nerney

Consultant in Substance Abuse Prevention and Education

Mr. Nerney has over 30 years experience in the field including 12 years as a teacher and coach, 3 years with the Adirondack Mountain School and 4 years in the chemical dependency field as a substance abuse counselor. He is also the former Director of the Training Institute of Narcotic and Drug Research, Inc. (NDRI)

Objectives:

- ◆ Identify 3 forms of danger that may exist for infants and children in chemically dependent families.
- ◆ Identify 2 conditions which may create future risk of emotional or psychological harm for children growing up in chemically dependent families.
- ◆ Describe the potential impact on the future quality of life for children of substance abusing families.
- ◆ Recognize that specific drugs may have different effects on family function.
- ◆ Identify 2 potential strategies for intervention with chemically dependent families.
